STOLEN VESSEL TRACKED AND RECOVERED

On April 7th 2015, ATLASTRAX assisted in the recovery of a vessel that was stolen at 0045 hrs from Marsh Harbour, Abaco Islands, Bahamas. The suspects were unaware that their every move was being tracked by ATLASTRAX. ATLASTRAX made a live link for the owner and law enforcement and helped feed information to authorities as the satellites sent updates to the server. The suspects abandoned the vessel in shallow water and ran into the woods. No damage was done to the vessel. ATLASTRAX was able to assist with point to point latitude and longitude locations as the suspects moved the vessel. The vessel was back in the hands of the owners the same evening. After 100 miles and almost 13 hours at an average speed of 8.8 mph, ATLASTRAX was able to provide constant updates of latitude and longitudes to pinpoint and aid the owner, the US Coast Guard and Bahamian Authorities to recover the vessel.
