BOATING SAFETY

It is imperative for boaters to continuously monitor the Marine Weather Forecast for the area in which they are operating. Visit the Government of Canada Weather site to familiarize yourself with the Marine VHF weather channel for your area of operation. If you don't have access to a VHF radio, boaters should check the local weather reports on their phone. There are several "LIVE" web cam feeds that are available online that can give boaters a glimpse of the current conditions in areas around the region. The web sites are a good tool when seeing the areas boaters may want to visit, but should not replace monitoring the weather information channels. Here are a few LIVE web cams around the waters in the Vancouver area. (Click on the photos and logos for hyperlink)
